

VIII ADVANCED LAPAROSCOPIC WORKSHOP ON FEMALE PELVIC SURGICAL ANATOMY ON UNENBALMED CADAVERS

Date:

3rd-4th June 2014

Place:

In the Anatomy Department, both classrooms and dissection room, of the School of Medicine of the University of Barcelona. Casanovas St, 143, Barcelona.

Registration:

1. This is an advanced workshop. Laparoscopic and anatomic skills are required
2. Registration rate: 2000€. Coffee-break, lunch, dinner with faculty and certificate are included. Twenty hours of compulsory assistance.
3. Further information will be provided for the registration procedure in the coming weeks.

Capacity:

The attendance is limited up to fourteen people. The registration order will be by payment of registration rates.

Core of the Course

The essence of the workshop is SURGICAL ANATOMY. Not anatomy, nor surgical technics. But what surgical anatomy is? The technics that give us the opportunity to turn a map (anatomy) on to a road book and therefore allow us to answer, at all times, the three main questions related to safety during a surgical procedure:

- What is that?
- Where is it?
- Which way?

Official language is English. Attendants can get help in some other languages (Spanish, Catalan, French and Italian for sure) but not on site translation is possible

Speakers

Jesús Jiménez López, Head of Gynecologic Oncology Unit, Obstetrics and Gynecology Department, 12 Octubre Hospital, Madrid, Spain

Luis Chiva, Head of Department of Gynecologic Oncology, MD Anderson Cancer Center, Madrid, Spain

Mikel Gorostidi, Associate Doctor, Specialist in Obstetrics and Gynecology, Donostia University Hospital. Associate Professor, Basque Country University, San Sebastian, Spain

Sergio Martínez-Román, Medical Consultant, Department of Gynecology and Obstetrics, Clínic University Hospital, Barcelona, Spain

Pere Barri, Head of the Surgery Unit of Gynecology, University Institute Dexeus, Head of the Unit of Deep Endometriosis, Barcelona, Spain

Dolors Martí, Department of Gynecology, Hospital Universitari de Bellvitge, L'Hospitalet de Llobregat, Barcelona, Spain

Maria Degollada, Hospital d'Igualada, Barcelona, Spain

Program 3rd of June 2014

- 08.00 Join us at the meeting point
- 08:15 – 08:30 Welcome and Introduction
- 08:30 – 09:00 Learning and understanding what is surgical anatomy
- 09:00 – 10:00 Advanced pelvic anatomy
- 10:00 – 10:30 Coffee break
- 10:30 - 13.00 Hands-on in the dissection room
- 13:00 – 15:00 Lunch and rest ("siesta" is optional under self-prescription)
- 15:00 – 19:00 Hands-on in the dissection room
- 19:00 – 19:30 Discussion and feedback
- 21:30 Dinner altogether and farewell

Program 4th of June 2014

- 08:15 – 08:30 Welcome and introduction
- 08:30 – 09:30 Advanced pelvic floor anatomy
- 09:30 – 10:00 Coffee break
- 10:00 – 13:30 Hands on in the dissection room
- 13:30 – 15:00 Lunch and rest
- 15:00 – 17:00 Clinical cases
- 17:00 – 18:00 Discussion and feedback